

This is a detailed floor plan of a building, likely a school or office, showing a central corridor and staircase area. The plan includes numerous rooms with their respective areas in square meters (m²). The central area is a large grey-shaded corridor and staircase. The rooms are arranged around this central core. The plan also shows various architectural details such as doors, windows, and furniture like desks and chairs. A large blue arrow points downwards from the plan, indicating a continuation or a specific direction. The overall layout is symmetrical, with rooms of similar size and shape on opposite sides of the central corridor.
